

Dr. Veronica Sloatsky

Dr. Veronica Sloatsky completed medical school at Vanderbilt University School of Medicine and residency at the George Washington University Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences. Her research and professional interests include transcultural psychiatry and women's mental health. She is a co-founder of the American Psychiatric Association Global Mental Health caucus. She has worked with survivors of the Khmer Rouge in Cambodia and developed a Testimonial Therapy program for Latin American immigrant women in the United States. She is currently starting a research project evaluating the use of Cranial Electrotherapy Stimulation for Post-partum Depression. She currently practices adult psychiatry and sees a diverse patient population in Northern Virginia.