

Constance E. Dunlap, MD, DFAPA is a board-certified psychiatrist who is actively engaged in clinical care, residency training, and advocacy to promote health equity by addressing structural racism in medical education and residency training. As a physician who is also trained as a psychoanalyst, Dr. Dunlap believes that the promotion of mind-body-spirit wellness begins with good sound nutrition, which is fundamental to preventative care. She provides comprehensive in-depth treatment, which includes psychotherapy with or without medication (depending on the need). She is interested in the role of Intersectionality and the management of “difference” – race, gender, ethnicity, religion and sexual identity - in interpersonal relationships, group dynamics, and institutional structures. She has decades of experience working with diverse populations.

Dr. Dunlap is a Clinical Professor of Psychiatry in the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at the George Washington University School of Medicine and Health Sciences. She is a former president of the Washington Psychiatric Society (WPS) board of directors and currently serves as a WPS Delegate to the Assembly of the American Psychiatric Association. In 2007 she was honored as the WPS Psychiatrist of the Year. She is a member of the American College of Psychiatrists and the American Psychoanalytic Association. She lives in Washington, DC where she maintains a private practice.

Education and Training:

- Graduate, Washington Psychoanalytic Institute, Washington, DC, 2001.
- Residency, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, George Washington University School of Medicine and Health Sciences, Washington, DC, 1991.
- Internship, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Washington Hospital Center, Washington, DC, 1988.
- Doctor of Medicine Degree, Georgetown University School of Medicine, Washington, DC, 1987.